

INTELLIGENT CONTENT NETWORK LARGE INSURANCE COMPANY

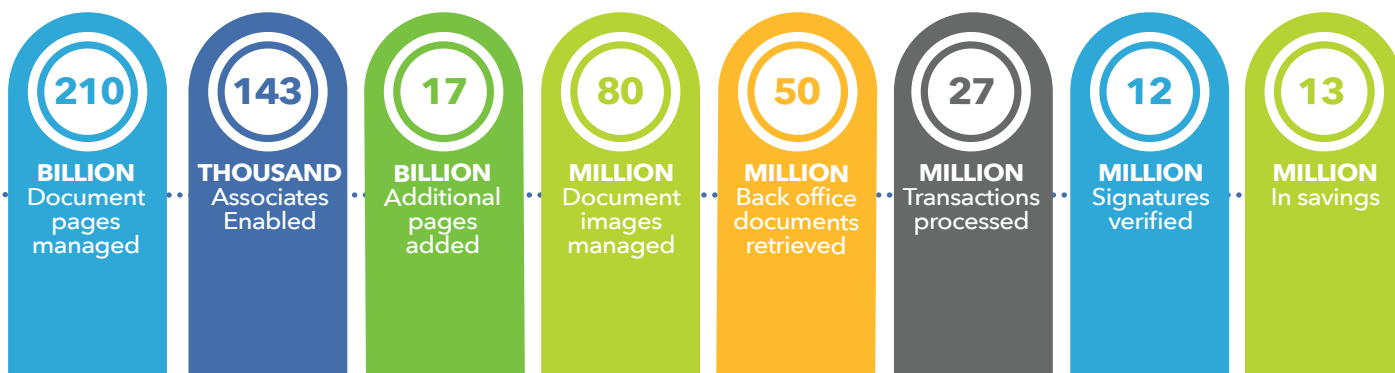

THE CHALLENGE

Human error from manual document recreation contributed to high court settlements, unreasonable labor and production costs, and lowered customer satisfaction. Definite room for improvement.

THE SOLUTION

Quick implementation of Systemware's intelligent content network, a simple method for packaging and distributing consistent documentation in subsecond timeframes. We also helped modernize their legacy systems to streamline antiquated processes.

THE RESULT

More than 100,000 associates enabled to manage and retrieve specific data from billions of documents, saving more than $13 million and improving customer service.

For more than 35 years, we've been working to develop and deliver creative, innovative software access to actionable information - anywhere.
